

“Get your Game On” with Golftec: We had overwhelming positive response last year with our golf education clinics and plan to at least triple the number of clinics for 2010. We have engaged Golftec to become our prime sponsor and we will be providing 7 clinics for all skill leveled golfers at all 5 of their store locations. This will provide experienced instructors, a variety of topics and an outreach to all of our members over the entire Houston area. The clinics will be conducted per the schedule below and will run from 6:30- 7:30 pm.

March 3rd – Intro to Golf/Tournament Season Prep ***

On the March 3rd clinic we will give 2 different discussions at each location, “Intro to Golf” will be geared toward the beginners/inexperienced players while “Season Prep” will be geared more toward the better/more experienced players.

April 8th – Club fitting; Why to get fit and how does it benefit me?

May 5th – Full Swing; why can’t I hit the ball as far or as straight as I would like?

June 3rd – Short game Part 1 (Putting and Chipping)

July 7th – Short game Part 2 (Pitching and Sand)

August 5th – Maximizing On-Course Performance

September 1st – Prepping for Next Year; what can I do to maximize my play in 2011

Our affiliation with Golftec serves multiple purposes, as it ensures consistency of education and swing training, and promotes membership opportunities from those women who take lessons at Golftec that might not be aware of EWGA. We are hopeful that leveraging this relationship with a national sponsor can yield benefits for both organizations.
